Guide Main Article: Guide The Guide Knows all crafting options. The new crafting area on Mobile for 1.4, visible on the right. The crafting area on Mobile (pre-1.3 screenshot). Similarly, for dyes and paints you can put a Dye Vat nearby. The crafting menu is located in the bottom left of your screen, as indicated in the image below. Alternatively, the "hammer and paper" button (Crafting Window) may be selected to view all items currently available to craft. The first crafting station available is the Work Bench, which can be crafted without any crafting station. Next to a selected item's icon in the list, its crafting recipe appears. Crafting is one of the main features of Terraria. Also added is a table+chair for making Watches and Timers. To select an item (as depicted by a yellow border), simply click on it, and to craft it, click it again. To use a crafting station, it must be placed in the world, and you must be standing close enough to it (see image). Some stations such as the Dye Vat and Cooking Pot are excluded. You can help by editing it, or by bringing concerns of an immediate nature to the Administrator's Noticeboard.The user who added this template to this page left the following explanation: Loads of new crafting stations have been added to the game since this page was last edited, so this page and its subpages need quite the overhaul. It is possible to stand near many crafting stations simultaneously to craft items using any of these stations. The player is required to be on the same level as crafting stations to use them and cannot craft using items from a chest (they must be in the player's inventory). On Console, press () / () / (). Don't forget the minor stations such as lava and honey blocks (a sink can substitute for water), and a Campfire (for a Marshmallow on a Stick). The crafting menu shows a collective list of everything craft-able item and its ingredients. You can also see all craftable items at once by clicking the hammer icon below the word "Crafting". The menu will then be populated with every possible item that can be crafted from the given placed item as well as the other ingredients needed for the highlighted item and the needed crafting station. Also, note the wooden platform at the top of the water - this allows the extra chest to be placed. To access the crafting menu, press the Inventory key while in-game. Large numbers of stackable items can be crafted by right-clicking and holding the icon, which quickly creates and stacks that item until the stack is full, you run out of materials, or simply let go. To exit your inventory, press the Inventory key again. If you keep any potion ingredients in one area, it can be useful to place a Bottle or Alchemy Table nearby for quick crafting. It also includes the Piggy Bank and the Safe for storage. Only by using the Goblin Tinkerer may one receive modifiers on crafted items. A very efficient pre-Hardmode crafting area (as of v1.3.2.1) with every station needed to progress to Hardmode (including a table for making a Watch). On the Mobile version before 1.3, the Guide was unhelpful with crafting, and could only give you tips (there was no "crafting" button). Crafting Stations[] Many recipes require that you have a crafting station to craft them. This means the page will walk you through a specific task, strategy, or enemy/boss fight.Status: Subject to revision (This Guide does not meet certain quality standards and may be heavily outdated.)Issues: • Most lkely outdated since 1.4. Remember not to delete pre-1.4 content; use {{eicons}} and {{eversions}})! Crafting is the act of combining one or more materials into a different item, usually at a specific crafting station. The same compact crafting station, but updated to include 1.4 crafting stations. Talking to the guide and selecting "Crafting" will display a menu similar to the standard crafting menu. On the Nintendo 3DS version, one can scroll through all recipes previously discovered, no matter if the materials are available or not. When the desired item is chosen from here, it will revert back to the standard crafting selection with the selected item highlighted. A compact, ultra-comprehensive above-ground crafting station that is capable of crafting almost any craftable item in 1.3. The only missing station is the Demon Altar/Crimson Altar as they cannot be moved. Also, when crafting on the Nintendo 3DS version items cannot receive modifiers. Upon crafting, there is a 75% chance that a weapon or accessory is provided with a random modifier, slightly altering its quality. Once an item is crafted it cannot be recycled for its original ingredients with the exception of Walls. A pre-Hardmode, post-Dungeon upgrade from the previous crafting area once the player has an Alchemy Table. An efficient endgame crafting area with more chests. The crafting area on Old-gen console. To change its modifier, you will have to use the reforge mechanic located in the Goblin Tinkerer's text box. The crafting area on Console. From there, switch tabs on Old-gen console to access the crafting interface and on Console, switch menus (/). Multi-Crafting Areas[] A highly compact crafting station used to craft most items available pre-Hardmode. Items you can craft using the station will then be added to the list of items you can currently craft. This will bring up the heads-up display, showing your inventory, equipment slots, and other options. The crafting area on 3DS. The crafting area on Desktop, outlined in red. This can help the player, however, they will have to scroll for a while late-game. Weapons and Accessories are crafted with random Prefixes. This article is in need of cleanup, and may not live up to the quality standards of the Terraria Wiki. Unfortunately, those are immobile! If you don't want to locate your crafting area near an altar, you can instead provide a way to get to an altar quickly -- teleporters are good for this. Notes[] Many players may find it useful to use the Guide's help, as he shows not only the recipes an item is used in, but also what crafting stations are needed to craft those items. If the max stack of an item is 1, then holding right click will have no effect. Every character can craft every item, however, only items for which the character has all required ingredients will be displayed provided the associated crafting station is in range. The crafting system is deeply interwoven with game progression, with many "key" materials and crafting stations dropped by various bosses, or otherwise available only after a given boss has been defeated. Right clicking will do the same, but holding right click will continue to produce the item until a full stack is crafted or the ingredients are diminished. Simply stand on the Work Bench to access all surrounding crafting stations and chests. Also built in a Snow biome and includes Piggy Bank, Safe, and Void Vault for storage. There is no way to predict what modifier will be applied on an item, and many items cannot get modifiers at all. To navigate this menu, you can click or use the mouse wheel to scroll through items. The newly crafted item will attach itself to your cursor, and from there it can be placed in your inventory or dropped by right-clicking outside of your inventory space. Crimstone Blocks are used to surround the single tile of water to prevent losing the water from accidental hits with a strong Pickaxe. When a player is finished searching all items, the placed item needs to be returned to an inventory or it will fall to the ground. Desktop version[] The items that can be currently crafted will appear in this menu. It allows players to create items, weapons, tools and other Blocks. Additions include Decay Chamber, Teapot, and Ecto Mist. The menu can be scrolled through with the scroll wheel or by selecting an item not currently highlighted. In this window, the player may place items into the empty blue box above the ingredients for which he wishes to see crafting options. Additionally, some items, such as the Copper Watch or Waterfall Blocks require that you stand next to multiple different crafting stations to be able to craft them. Crafting Basics[] The crafting aspect is slightly different across different versions of Terraria. The menu is accessible from the inventory screen (default: Esc.) on the right below the inventory. The highlighted item will show all the needed items to craft. To make a fully complete crafting area, you would need to include either a Demon or Crimson Altar. Left clicking will produce one item while consuming the ingredients. Your crafting options are determined by the items you have in your inventory, as well as your proximity to various crafting stations.
